Gov. Williams Playing Politics With Layoffs, Says Owosso Senator

LANSING (AP)—Sen. James M. Teahen (R-Owosso) today has accused Gov. Williams of "playing politics with unemployment."

The senator, chairman of a legislative committee studying unemployment compensation, issued a statement after the governor said he was considering a special session of the Legislature.

Benefits Bill Vetoed
The special session was asked by labor leaders to increase the amount and duration of compensation because of the many layoffs expected after the burning of the General Motors transmission plant at Livonia last week.

Teahen said Michigan "is far ahead of other states in unemployment benefits" with a $26.11 average weekly benefit check. He added that the Legislature tried to extend the duration of benefits from 20 to 26 weeks but that the governor vetoed the bill because of objections to a merit rating system of figuring the contributions of employers.

"While the governor may feel," Teahen said, "that an extra six weeks of compensation is of little meaning to the workingman of Michigan, I am sure that those unemployed because of the Livonia fire whose benefits will expire about Christmastime feel otherwise."

Calls For Cooperation
Teahen said that he felt "that labor bosses who are the governor's principal backers in Michigan have seized upon a catastrophe creating unemployment to try to solidify their organizations behind the governor."

The senator added he "would be glad" to consult with Williams about changes in the compensation law, "but I hope he will display a more cooperative attitude than he has in the past."

Gen. Bradley Fears Military Fund Cuts Will Become Habit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Omar Bradley says he is fearful lest this year's slash in the military budget grow into "a habit as tempting as, and more dangerous than, the habit of dollar extravagance."

Bradley, five-star general who stepped out four days ago after two years as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said of the Eisenhower administration's decision to cut more than five billion dollars from the Defense Department budget:

"At first glance this looked to me like coasting before you reach the top of the hill. Personally, I would be inclined to keep the pressure on — from a security standpoint — until we reach a higher level of readiness and security."

These statements, in an article written for the Saturday Evening Post and made public Tuesday night, were Bradley's first direct

New Quakes Hit Ionian Islands

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Athens Observatory reported today that fresh earth tremors shook Greece's quake-devastated Ionian Islands. At least three of the shocks were listed as "moderately strong."

Workers, continued to uncover bodies of victims killed in last week's catastrophe. Some of the remains pulled from the debris on the three islands of Kefallinia, Ithaca and Zakynthos had been charred by fire.

The observatory said it had recorded 11 more tremors in the island area in the 12 hours ending at 7:30 a. m., today (12:30 a. m., CST).

The series of quakes that began Aug. 8 killed at least 700 inhabitants of the three small islands and injured an estimated 1,500. Thousands of survivors were left homeless.

Fiery Connally Snorts Disgust Of Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tom Connally is a gray-haired political warrior who has retired to the sidelines, but the fiery Texan is snorting his disapproval these days over the conduct of some of his fellow Democrats.

Retirement has dulled neither the mind nor the tongue that kept him in Congress for almost 36 years and made him an international figure. He is observing his 76th birthday today and has this to say about his party:

Bragging No Help
"The Democrats can overdo this business of bragging about their support of President Eisenhower. That sort of thing may be no help in the years to come."

"Besides, they should make it clear they will vote for a program on its merits alone—not whether Eisenhower is for or against it. Most things the Democrats have supported were programs which were initiated by the Democrats in the first place. They've just been voting for what they believed in all the time."

Connally made the statement as he sat on the pleasant tree-shaded porch of the home here where he lives with his wife and his memories of the years when he was an actor in history-making events.

Popularity Holds
Speaking of Eisenhower, he said: "I think Ike's capital stock is his personal popularity as a war hero. I think his popularity is still holding—maybe not as strong as it was, but it's still there. And there's no doubt the Democrats in Congress have helped him with their support on several measures."

"I think he's shown very clearly that he has an extremely conservative viewpoint. Many of his important appointments have gone to men with no practical experience in government or politics—though they may have had experience in big business and monopolies."

"If this trend continues, it's going to hurt him. People don't want big business to dominate us."

Brutal Handling Of Chinese Red Prisoners Denied

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH
PANMUNJOM (AP)—The U. N. Command today bluntly denied Communist charges that prisoners have been brutally treated. It told the Reds the physical condition of repatriated POWs proved the accusation was a "distortion of the truth."

The denial was made at a meeting of the POW Repatriation Commission and answered Communist charges leveled last Friday.

Another 75 Americans were liberated here Wednesday while two ships prepared to sail for home with men freed earlier by the Reds.

Hot Note Held Up

U. N. members of the Commission reportedly planned to hand the Reds a strong note again demanding return of all Allied prisoners, but Col. L. C. Friedersdorff, chief Allied delegate, made no mention of it in talking with newsmen after the session. There were strong indications the U. N. Command did not deliver the note, which authoritative spokesmen said earlier would be "hot."

Friedersdorff said the Red accusations of brutality were "intended to discredit the U. N. Command." The Reds had charged the Allies with a multitude of inhumane acts—from using toxic gas to food poisoning.

Propaganda Squeezed In

Friedersdorff also took a slap at Communist Red Cross workers, who reportedly have been acting as propaganda agents for the Reds.

"It is obvious from their actions that some of them are attempting to engage in activities exceeding the purely humanitarian mission with which they are charged," he declared. "We have no intention of permitting them to engage in such activities..."

In Seoul, ROK President Syngman Rhee urged South Korean repatriates to "join us all when we drive North in later days."

"I ask you," Rhee declared in a statement, "to be determined to rescue your fellow men daily suffering in North Korea by advancing with faith and loyalty."

Hospital Ship Loaded

The largest group of Allied soldiers yet turned back in one day—456—rode into Panmunjom today in open trucks.

And 130 Americans liberated earlier anxiously awaited the journey home aboard the hospital ship Haven, scheduled to leave Inchon harbor for Japan Thursday. Only sick and wounded are aboard.

Another 400 able-bodied American repatriates start the voyage home Saturday. They will make the two-week trip from Inchon to San Francisco on the troopship Marine Adair.

The Communists said 450 Allied prisoners would be repatriated from North Korea Thursday.

The group will include 60 Americans, 90 British and 300 South Koreans.

Boys In Korea Just Digging Since Truce

WESTERN FRONT, Korea (AP)—The young Marine straightened up from the newly dug trench, massaged the small of his back and mopped sweat off his face.

"We've been digging, digging, ever since the armistice," said Pfc. Talmage W. Blackwell of Raleigh, Miss.

"But don't get me wrong. I'm not kicking. I'd rather do something like this than have men getting killed like before the armistice."

Mine Hunt Risky
All across the 150-mile front, Allied soldiers were swinging picks and shovels into Korea's red clay hills. They were building new earthen fortifications south of the demilitarized zone.

Others engaged in dangerous mine removal work. Scores of small parties went over ground using the most modern of detectors but even so risking accident and death.

Some men in the forward areas were in salvage operations, bringing back equipment for cleaning, repair and further use.

Free U. S. Food In East Germany Stings Russians

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—This country's free food for the East Germans — flour, lard, beans and dried milk — continues to sting the Russians like a mustard plaster.

The 15 million dollars which President Eisenhower ordered spend for it no doubt pays for itself in goodwill for this country among both the free West Germans and the East Germans living under Communist control.

As an American act of friendship, it may be effective in persuading the West Germans to reject this fall Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who has been working on the side of the United States. And the fact that the East Germans have streamed into West Berlin for the food, at risk to themselves, is notice to everyone that there is a hunger problem in Soviet territory and that the Russians can't lick it.

Over 2,600,000 seven-pound packages have been handed out and the program is far from finished. Distribution began in late July.

It's been estimated the 15 millions will buy 50,000 tons of food.

Millions Of Packages

Once the food gets to West Germany, Adenauer's government hauls it to West Berlin. As an example of what the food means: 2,000 tons of lard is two million one-pound containers.

The food packages are distributed from relief stations set up in public schools in West Berlin. There's been a recent lag in the program because the school season starts soon.

New centers will be set up. The program is expected to get going at full speed again by Aug. 27.

Warm Weather May Bring Out Record Crowd

The promise of warm weather, Governor's Day and 4-H Day is expected to bring out the largest crowd to date at the Upper Peninsula State Fair Thursday. If the ideal weather materializes that is forecast by the U. S. Weather Bureau, a record attendance for the fair may be established tomorrow.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams will make his annual visit to the Upper Peninsula State Fair tomorrow. Sen. Homer Ferguson and Rep. Victor Knox also will be in attendance. Both Gov. Williams

The entertainment program Thursday afternoon features Rudy Vallee, famed crooner, and the popular radio quiz show, "True or False," in addition to the Silver Jubilee Varieties.

Rudy Vallee and the Silver Jubilee Varieties will be presented again in the evening program. A special program honoring Gold Star mothers is scheduled as a part of the evening show.

The Escanaba Municipal Band will play a concert in front of the grandstand prior to the start of the evening show.

A presentation of 4-H styles will be held Thursday as a feature of 4-H club day at the fair.

Tonight's program at the fair features the selection and coronation of the Upper Peninsula State Fair queen. Justice Clark D. Adams will place the crown of the queen's head.

The program tonight also features the opening performance of the quiz show, "True or False," starring Eddie Dunn as master of ceremonies. The Silver Jubilee Varieties will also be presented tonight.

The lightweight horsepulling contest will be held Friday morning at 10.

Bookbinder Case Irks McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) called on an official of the Government Printing Office today to explain why the agency kept on its payroll for years a bookbinder who won't say whether he has been a Communist spy.

McCarthy, chairman of the Senate investigations subcommittee, summoned GPO Personnel Director S. Preston Hipsley to a public hearing in the case of bookbinder Edward Rothchild.

The printing office suspended Rothchild without pay Tuesday minutes after he refused to tell McCarthy, sitting as a one-man subcommittee, whether he is a Communist party member or whether he engaged in espionage as recently as 10 days ago.

McCarthy said previous testimony demonstrates a Communist cell was formed in the huge government printing plant as early as 1938. There also is evidence, he said, that secret documents have been stolen from the plant.

Rothchild, told by McCarthy Tuesday there is testimony he stole a code book and other secret data, refused to admit or deny it on the ground that his replies might tend to incriminate him.

Royalist Insurgents Overthrow Mossadegh Government In Iran

LONDON (AP)—Tehran radio said Royalists today seized the Iranian government, sent aged Premier Mohammed Mossadegh fleeing for his life and called the Shah to return at once to his throne.

The terse broadcast gave no details of the upset. All other communications with the Middle East oil capital were shut off, so that there was no way of confirming the dramatic report.

Mob Nabs Minister

The report said Mossadegh had escaped, but that his foreign minister, Houssein Fatemi "had been torn to pieces," presumably by a mob.

Dispatches filed earlier from Tehran this morning told of mob violence and police gunfire in the capital.

But these accounts said the disorders were caused by police efforts to halt nationalist supporters of Mossadegh and Communists from continuing frenzied demonstrations against the Shah.

Iran's handsome 33-year-old ruler, Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi fled from the country with his beautiful Queen, Soraya, last Sunday when Mossadegh's forces crushed an attempt to oust the old Premier and install the Shah's choice — a pro-Western general, Fazollah Zahedi. The Shah and Queen arrived in Rome Tuesday. The report from Tehran today said Zahedi had been installed as the new Premier.

Eager To Return

Hawk-nosed, weepy old Mossadegh rode to power in April 1951 on his powerful nationalist demands for government seizure of the vast 30-million-ton a year oil industry from the British, who, he said, had controlled the country's life blood for half a century. His refusal to compromise in his program nationalizing the 1½ billion dollar Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. shut off the flow of oil in the West and caused a bitter break in diplomatic relations between Iran and Britain.

The Shah and his Queen were eating lunch at their Rome hotel when they heard the report of the overthrow. Excitedly, the Shah said he was eager to return to his country.

The man who read the invitation to the Shah over Tehran radio said:

"At this time the people have been able to capture the capital. We are eagerly waiting for your return."

Before this, the first announcement of the royalist overthrow of Mossadegh followed much confused shouting in the radio station, according to monitors in London.

Vishinsky Proposal Before U. N. Branded Raw Political Trick

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—

Wary United Nations delegates waited for an explanation later today of the Soviet Union's Korean political conference proposals from Russia's Andrei Vishinsky. Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. called them a "sleazy maneuver."

Lodge declared the resolution Vishinsky put before the U. N. Assembly's Political Committee

Tuesday was designed to let the Communists dominate the peace parley. Other delegates reserved comment on the Russian proposal.

Vishinsky was expected to speak before the committee today. The Soviet program called for the peace conference to be made up of 11 countries, including five "neutrals." This ran directly counter to American desires to limit the talks to nations whose troops fought in Korea.

Russia proposed these conference members:

1. Three U. N. members whose troops fought on the U. N. side—the United States, Britain and France—and South Korea;
2. The two Communist belligerents—North Korea and Communist China;

3. Two Communist "neutrals"—the Soviet Union and Poland;
4. Three other neutrals—India, Sweden and Burma all three have recognized Red China.

Western delegates pointed out that the Soviet conference lineup would include only four countries which fought under the U. N. flag and that a combination of the Communist nations and the "neutrals" could outvote the others.

Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, the Netherlands and Belgium all have lined up in favor of a round-table conference—one with neutrals as well as belligerents.

The United States insists that the conference be limited to nations actually fighting in Korea, with the possible exception of Russia.

Best Summer Ever Enjoyed By Business

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. Business is enjoying its best summer ever, the Department of Commerce says. A department report Tuesday included these figures:

Steel and automobile production were at near record rates in July. A record for any three-month period of manufacturers' sales was set when such sales in June remained above the 26 billion dollar level.

Unemployment in July was the lowest for the month since World War II—1½ million persons.

However, the department also said new orders continued to fall off in June, to a level five billions below last September's peak, and inventories continued to increase.

Fire Destroys Demeuse Home

The George Demeuse family was without a home and household furnishings after fire at 7 a. m. today destroyed their dwelling about two miles west of Memory Lane on US-2-41.

Mr. and Mrs. Demeuse and their seven children escaped from the one and one-half story frame house without injury. They lost most of their possessions, however, including most of their clothing except that worn at the time of the fire.

Saved from the fire by the parents were Sharon, 1; Linda, 2; Nancy, 3; Terry, 4; Sandra, 5; Donna, 6; and George, 7.

The fire was discovered shortly before 7 o'clock and apparently started from a faulty chimney. The blaze broke out after a fire was kindled in the kitchen stove.

Escanaba firemen from No. 2 station were summoned at 7 o'clock but when they arrived the back part of the house was already in flames. They described the loss as "total" and reported that Demeuse had no insurance on the house or contents.

Water was used to control the fire and keep it from spreading to another building nearby. Saved from the flames were two stoves and some clothing.

An appeal was made today by the Delta County Chapter of the Red Cross in behalf of the distressed family.

The Red Cross asks contributions of clothing for the family in the following sizes: Men's clothing, size 34 trousers; women's clothing, size 14; and for children's clothing sizes one to 7.

Complete Plans For Delta Pioneer Day Program On Sunday

Program plans for the Delta County Historical Society's "Old Settlers' Day" picnic meeting to be held Sunday afternoon at Pioneer Trail Park are now being completed. A. T. Sohlberg, Gladstone, Society president, announced today.

At the program starting at 2 p. m. the Society will present a program honoring men and women who have been residents of the county since 1890 or before. Special invitations to about 300 persons have been issued by the Society.

Appearing on the program in talks and interviews will be R. A. Brotherton, Negaunee, former Escanaba resident; Emil Mosier, Danforth; William Miller, Rapid River; Mrs. Theodore Farrel and Anthony Manley of Escanaba; Frank Barron, Flat Rock; Will Marble, Gladstone; George Lusardi, Trembley. Others are being contacted.

Fiddlers who have been invited to attend are Albert LaMarche of Escanaba Rte. 1, Anton Wittig of Isabella, Edgar Bernard of Garden and George LaChapelle of Escanaba.

The name of one fiddler who had volunteered to play has been lost by the Society. He is asked to submit his name again to Frank Bender Jr., Delta County Historical Society, Escanaba Rte. 1.

Square dancing will be called by Elmer Dahn of Brampton.

Houghton Farm Couple Wins Dairy Trophy

Mr. and Mrs. John Bell of Alston, Houghton County, Tuesday night won the Ben Miller Trophy for having the dairy herd whose milk had the most butterfat content throughout the entire Upper Peninsula during the past year.

The award was presented by Dean Jackson, Ontonagon, member of the U. P. Fair Board following the annual Dairyman's dinner in the 4-H Dining Hall. Present were 67 persons.

The award, described by Charles J. (Jack) Little, who was toastmaster, as "the climax of the man who is chairman of the board of managers of the Upper Peninsula State Fair. This is the first year the trophy has been presented.

Certificate Presented

Certificates were presented to other U. P. dairymen whose herds produced outstanding butterfat records. From Delta County, Nels Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson of Danforth were first with 399 pounds, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bergman of Bark River second with 345 pounds.

Other certificates, with their butterfat poundage, were given as follows:

Alger County: Urho Pokela, 395; Gunnar Benson, 391. Baraga County: William Kuivainen, 425; Ed Maki, 389. Dickinson County: Walter Brecklaw, 426; Oleskey Brothers, 409. Iron County: Eino Kaski, 425. Gogebic County: Fred Drier, 463; Emil Van Lokeren, 448. Houghton County: John Bell, 587; Matt Lauluma, 445.

Certificates were presented by the respective county agricultural agents.

Dairy Husbandry Awards

Dean Jackson presented certificates of achievement in dairy husbandry to several Upper Peninsula dairy farmers who have exhibited 10 or more years at the fair.

Little, commenting that no one of the winners had an exhibition record of under 15 years, described the long-time exhibitors as "these folks that actually have been the backbone of the show, and still are."

Joint Delta County winners of a certificate were Nels Johnson and his son Elmer Johnson, Guernsey dairymen of Danforth, who have exhibited over 20 years.

Other certificate winners included: Carl P. Hansen, Menominee County Jersey breeder who has exhibited at every U. P. State Fair; Hansen's son Ray Hansen, who has shown Jersey cattle more than 15 years; Andrew Benson, also of Menominee County and a Jersey breeder, who has exhibited at every fair but two; Benson's son Kenneth Benson, who has shown Jersey cattle more than 15 years.

Sam Grondine and son, Menominee County Holstein herd, more than 17 years; Johnson Brothers of Hermansville, Holstein breeders, over 15 years; A. Wender and son, Iron Mountain Hol-

Silver Jubilee Fair Has Great Night Show

The Upper Peninsula State Fair's Silver Jubilee has a great night show.

Its two hours are packed with thrilling acts. In addition it has Nip Nelson, master of ceremonies, who, as one of last night's audience in the grandstand, expressed it, "is worth the price of admission alone."

Featured attraction on the opening day's program was Sergeant Preston and his dog King, heroes of the Yukon in the popular MBS radio show.

Sgt. Preston, in the colorful dress uniform of the Canadian Mounties, paid tribute to the boys and girls of the Safety Patrol, who were guests at the fair. After commenting on the standard of his radio program in which the criminal always is brought to swift justice, he addressed himself directly to the youngsters in the grandstand.

Police Are Good Friends

"Defenders of the law are your friends," he declared. "Always remember that. When you are in any trouble you can turn to them, whether they be Mounted Police, your Michigan State Police or your local officers."

He described King, a malamute, who is six years old and weighs 106 pounds as a working dog, not a trick dog. "He's my friend," he said. "I'm proud to say he's my stein herd, more than 15 years. Little said it was impossible to determine the exact number of years these men have exhibited because the records are not clear on the point.

friend." The youngsters liked that. They also liked the announcement that Sheriff William E. Miron had made the sergeant a deputy sheriff of Delta Co.

Closing his appearance Sgt. Preston urged the boys and girls to follow four rules which will help them grow up to be the sort of men and women this country needs.

"Trust in God," he said, "Love your country, love and respect your parents and be kind to animals."

Acts During Week

The grandstand acts which will be here throughout fair week include the Three Eddies, trampoline artists; Woody and Lorraine who perform unbelievable feats on roller skates; Malino and Hollis in a comedy juggling act; the Van De Velde Company, European circus troupe whose amazing balancing feats are climaxed by Miss Elly who does a one fingerstand on a water glass placed on top of a bottle; the Flying Zachinis, skilled trapeze performers; Baudy's animal act in which greyhounds and monkeys present a liberty drill and a wild west show; Hap Hazard, whose patter is as funny as his juggling is expert, and his partner, Mary; the Antaleks, masters of pole and perch equilibrium and acrobatics, and Nip, an inimitable mimic, whose impersonations brought a roar of applause from the grandstand.

The show closes with the Zachinis in their daring double cannon act.

Bill Clark's organ music is an added enjoyable feature of the performance.

Upper Peninsula State Fair Has Much of Interest to Its Patrons

THE state's sharp crackdown on bingo and other games of chance caused a lot of people to believe that the midway of the Upper Peninsula State Fair would be drab this year, lacking in the fun and hilarity of bygone years.

The truth is that the midway is alive with fun. Fair patrons have been pleasantly surprised. True enough, there is disappointment among the large number of bingo players that this pastime has been prohibited at the fair, as elsewhere in Michigan, but the midway offers a wide variety of amusement centers. There are interesting shows of many varieties, high class clowns who always do a good job of entertaining as well as selling their merchandise, and there are many rides for young and old.

The exhibits, which comprise the real backbone of the fair, are interesting as always. And the entertainment program at the grandstand is a genuine treat, with new features each day.

At various times in past years we have commented on the exceptional work of the 4-H boys and girls who exhibit their talents at the fair. This year's 4-H exhibits are equally outstanding. The 4-H youngsters do an excellent job in fields of activity that contribute to better home and family living. This phase of the fair program in itself justifies the time and effort expended to stage the exposition.

Reflective Tape Can Save Lives

THE use of reflective tape on rear bumpers of automobiles is a safety program that deserves the generous cooperation of Delta County motorists. The Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce is promoting the program here and has established a taping station at the city hall parking lot to be in operation tonight from 6 to 9.

Delta County's traffic record is a bad one. Last year it was the worst in the Upper Peninsula. Putting reflective tape on rear bumpers will not in itself assure traffic safety but it will help. And every little help that we can get to cut down our traffic toll should be utilized.

The reflective tape picks up the lights of oncoming vehicles and serves as a warning to overtaking motorists at night. It supplements the tail lights and is particularly effective in this assignment. The tape is waterproof and does not shred.

We heartily recommend the program to Delta County motorists. Make it a point to drive your car to the taping station tonight and have the Jaycees equip your car. You pay only the cost of the tape, a nominal fee, and the service in installing the tape is free.

The Doctor Says . . .

Gramicidin For Skin Diseases Is Better Than Penicillin

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Penicillin, the great wartime discovery of Dr. Alexander Fleming, has become almost a magic word to any of us faced with sudden and dangerous infection. Now it has become involved in what a horse player might term a "biochemical parlay."

You know how penicillin contributed greatly during and after World War II to the lowering of the death rate among our soldiers as well as our civilians. However, it has been revealed that some doctors feel it unwise to use penicillin for the cure of surface skin infections, since the human system may become accustomed to it and it cannot be used later in more serious conditions.

Recently medical journals have carried the story of an almost equally important new development, gramicidin. Like most other results of contemporary scientific research, it cannot be properly called a "discovery," since it has been evolved as a result of years of painstaking study at the medical school of the University of Chicago.

Gramicidin, it is announced, "may be as important to surface medication as penicillin is to internal treatment." Hence the parlay. The doctors soon may be able to save penicillin exclusively for really serious internal infections and use derivatives of gramicidin for surface infections.

It may be some time before your doctor prescribes this new drug for you. Matter of fact, we hope he never has to. But you might check with him on this medicine. Don't forget, the doctor will call it: gruh-MISS-in-d'n, just as in the beginning he called it: peh-NISS-in-n. However, if enough of you pronounce gramicidin the free-and-easy way you did penicillin, the purists will have to come down off their high horses and accept gram-in-SID-n, just as they do pen-in-SIL-n.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—One of the many things vitally affecting the public which didn't leak out during the late lamented congress, was a hassle over fruit sprays, which one prominent doctor warned may be slowly poisoning the American people. These poisons, inhaled while spraying or eaten as residue on fruits and vegetables, accumulate in the system and may take as much as ten years off a person's life, it was testified.

The warning was given by Dr. Robert Mobbs of Aberdeen, N. C., who told how he had spent five years intensely studying the problem after a child in his home town had died of what he was convinced was pesticide poisoning. He cited one chemical spray, benzene hexachloride, which was found in tests to produce abnormal, cancer-like cell growth. Yet it is used to spray on crops, to dust troops in Korea, and in vaporizing devices, to air out homes and restaurants.

He declared that doctors and chemists have prepared reports on "insecticide toxicity," but added ominously: "I think that these reports have been largely ignored, minimized, and suppressed."

Testifying before the house interstate and foreign commerce committee, Dr. Mobbs appealed to the congressmen to put teeth in the laws regulating pesticides and insecticides.

Instead of doing so, the committee boosted a bill, introduced by GOP Congressman A. L. Miller of Nebraska and endorsed by the insecticide companies, that would leave it up to the manufacturers to test their own pest killers and submit their findings to the government. Following this, the Food and Drug Administration would be given 60 days to decide, on the basis of the manufacturers' own report, how strong a dose could be sold to the public.

FOOD AND DRUG OBJECTION

This bill brought this warning from Food and Drug Commissioner Charles Crawford. "Irresponsible operators might submit the sketchiest and most inadequate toxicological data." Yet the government would be forced to fix the dosage, Crawford said, and issue it "within the rather brief time limit prescribed."

"We believe it essential to public health and highly advantageous to the industry, that tests, deemed adequate by a competent and unbiased scientific body, be required of all new pesticides," the Food and Drug chief urged.

The real danger, he pointed out, was that "you might find yourself with a meal that contained 20 different poisons, none of which by itself would hurt you, but all of which put together might be getting into the critical zone."

PERFORATED STOMACHS

"We now know," he declared, "that many foods are contaminated by these insecticides and that human tissue itself now contains DDT and probably other insecticides and yet no one knows what the ultimate effect will be . . ."

"One baby food company has tried to get away from having insecticides in those foods they are preparing for babies," he added, "yet today they are about ready to abandon that search. They just can't find foods in sufficient quantity that do not contain some insecticides, yet they do not know what the result, the ultimate result, will be."

Dr. Mobbs told how he began his investigation five years ago after an insecticide plant in his community started mixing a drug for boll weevil spraying.

"The air was constantly permeated with insecticides. Many people became ill, and virus-like illness was rampant throughout the town . . ." he related. "There was a child living in a home adjacent to this insecticide mixing plant, who died suddenly of a virus-like infection, died in convulsions. This substance was released for widespread use where it contaminated the air we had to breathe, and yet it had been untested in that medium."

"I found," he continued, "that if you fed it to an animal, it would kill the animal in convulsions. This child that died had also suffered a perforation of the stomach. Later it was found in experiments that animals suffered perforation of the stomach. So I felt that this child's death was probably due to this chemical."

The Aberdeen, N. C., physician told of another patient who "tried to use himself as a guinea pig to see what the effects of the insecticide would be. He had a coronary heart disease that seemed to be definitely aggravated by exposure to the dust, and on his death, we found DDT in his tissues."

Note—In fairness to the insecticide manufacturers, it should be pointed out that most of them scrupulously test and label their products to safeguard the public. Without these poisonous sprays, insects and rodents would literally spoil most of the country's food supply. For example, apples alone must be protected from over 200 insects. Yet insects develop an immunity to sprays, and it constantly takes more poison to kill them. Insects which once died at a whiff of DDT now are immune to it.

Jim Hagerty Doing Fine Job As Press Secretary of White House

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Television headlines notwithstanding, White House Press Secretary Jim Hagerty is doing very nicely in a traditionally tough spot.

They're beginning to compare him favorably to some of his famous predecessors, like Wilson's Joe Tumulty and Franklin Roosevelt's Steve Early.

At a recent party which Jim and his wife attended—and they don't go to many—a nervous female fluttered up to Mrs. H. with the query:

"Aren't you frightened to death of Jim's health? You must know that the job killed Charles Ross and Joe Short. They say that it's the addition of television that does it. How does he stand such a job?"

Mrs. Hagerty replied that she wished her husband had to spend less time at the White House. But she wasn't worried about his health because he had a rugged constitution which was bearing up beautifully.

Proof of her point was Jim, leaning against a wall, hands in pockets, completely relaxed and laughing loudly at a gag. Picture of a man looking unbothered.

In the few months Jim has been on the job he has added solid blocks on the foundation of modern White House press relations which was begun by colorful "Teddy" Roosevelt.

The demands of TV coverage, with its cameras, lights and precise timing, have further complicated an already tough job of Presidential coverage. But with expert help from his assistant, Murray Snyder, Jim has integrated the new medium smoothly into the total news coverage picture.

He handles the thousand and one needs of the press, magazines, still picture services, newsreels, TV and radio networks with fairness, patience and good humor. And as one of Ike's first advisors, after the General decided to get into politics, he enjoys the President's complete trust and confidence. He can walk into the President's office without knocking.

Jim's job is vastly more complicated than in the days when "T.R." became the first President to hold regular—although informal—press conferences.

However, no press secretary was needed to help Teddy improve his press relations. He had a keen perception of public opinion, knew what was a good news story and made good news himself. He loved to exercise this talent.

He was the first President to invoke the still-standing rule of no direct quotes from conferences and the first to take a wide group of reporters into his full confidence.

It fell on Teddy's famous kin, Franklin, however, to elevate White House press relations to its present lofty state. His Steve Early became the first press secretary in the White House to get that specific title and responsibility.

Steve had been a highly-successful and well-known wire service reporter when he agreed to take on the newly-created White House post. The crucial times, Roosevelt's dramatic moves and Steve's shrewd ability added up to making Early a nationally-known figure in his own right.

With Roosevelt's death Steve

EISENHOWER'S HAGERTY: Walking with Ike to a press session, veteran reporters put him in a class with Steve Early.

took a job with the Pullman Company, returned to government as assistant Secretary of Defense under Louis Johnson and died soon after another short stint as White House Press Secretary under Harry Truman. Steve took over from Charles Ross who died while in the White House post. They were both said to be victims of the job.

Veteran reporters today put Hagerty in Early's class, with a good chance to rise above it if things keep going as smoothly as they have so far.

The first press secretary, in action if not in title, was Woodrow Wilson's Joseph Patrick Tumulty. He was more like Hagerty than Early, in fact. Tumulty, a seasoned New Jersey politician, was Wilson's closest political adviser and assistant. Hagerty is probably closer to Ike and a more important adviser to him than Early was to Roosevelt.

It was Tumulty's very great ability as a press adviser and Wilson's particular lack of ability to get along with reporters which made him such an important figure in the annals of White House press aids. He had that important "feel" for the job.

The other men who acted as press aids to Presidents after Teddy Roosevelt either lacked the "feel" or had bosses who refused to be helped in this department.

Jim will likely go down in the books as the greatest of them all, with a future unlimited when he leaves.

Dry Hungary Tests Flying Waterworks

By RICHARD KLEINER

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Down around Hajduboszormeny and Berettyoujfalu these days, all they talk about is the flying watering can. That's according to a little advance information on the mobile brainstrom that has leaked out from behind the Iron Curtain.

Those two towns are in the middle of the Great Plains area of northeastern Hungary. It's mostly an agricultural area with a bad water problem. The Hungarian government, says the magazine "New Hungary," is now building a hydroelectric and irrigation project along the Tisza River in the Great Plains.

But if that doesn't do the trick, the Hungarians have something else in reserve. And that is the big idea cooked up by a big brain from the Great Plains. It's something that should make America's feeble rain-making efforts as old-fashioned as a good night's sleep in the Kremlin.

The flying watering can makes Major Hoople look like an unimaginative clod. It combines the inventive genius of somebody like Ed Wynn with the practicability of a shoo-

To begin with, there are two long water pipes, with atomizing sprinklers. At both ends of the pipes, there is a tractor. The tractors run along canals, from which they pump water into the pipes and thus rain on a 500-yard-wide ribbon of land.

So far, so good. But the inventive Hungarian figured that perhaps the pipe would sag in the middle. Or, another obstacle, there might be trees along the path. To a man whose forebears invented the electric light, telegraph, automobile, atom bomb and thimble, this was no problem.

He simply attached three barrage balloons. These ride over the big drip, and easily lift it off the ground, over the trees, and then settle it down again on the other side. Nothing to it.

According to "New Hungary," the airborne sprinkler is something more than a wild dream. They are presently experimenting with it.

There's one point that presents no problem behind the Iron Curtain. It'll be easy to fill the balloons.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

WEEKS IN THE YEAR—The National Chamber of Commerce has taken over the task of publishing the annual booklet listing "special days, weeks and months," previously issued by the Department of Commerce.

Things have come to the pass in the United States where promoters and patriots have more "special weeks" than there are weeks in the year. Which no doubt will be corrected by the National Chamber, which would not like to have Apple Week and Pear Week being observed at the same time.

In taking over the booklet publication from the Department of Commerce, the National Chamber of Commerce will no doubt save a bit of taxpayer's expense. For we assume Department of Commerce printing is by the government.

But the National Chamber, despite some snickering by this columnist and others concerning the plethora of "special weeks" in the U. S., rises nobly to defend the tradition.

NOT SO SILLY—"Our purpose in publishing the booklet," reports the National Chamber, "stems from the well-established fact that special days, weeks and months are an effective means of promoting community and business welfare."

"There are a good many people, however, who find these special events just a shade silly. Frankly, we find this view just a shade superficial," replies the National Chamber.

"No doubt some of the slogans for special events are humorous. But they also serve the practical purpose of calling attention to something a lot of folks believe important."

"Some citizens contend, for example, that National Pickle Week can hardly be a dignified event. We contend that National Pickle Week should and does arouse memories of pickles—past—and midnight snacks to come, both of which, to our view, are thoroughly worthwhile pursuits."

CONFUSING PERHAPS—In short, the National Chamber avers that it is out to defend the special weeks as "part of our American folklore—and, indeed, our national sense of humor."

For the purpose of this discussion, let us then describe the special weeks as confusing rather than silly.

And if the National Chamber wants to make an issue of it, let it reconcile Save the Cat Week and Save the Birds Week. From the practical viewpoint one or the other will have to be sacrificed in saving one or the other.

There is National Cotton Week, usually emphasizing cloth rather than cottonseed oil. For cottonseed oil is used in the manufacture of oleomargarine—and oleo is frown on by the dairy interests, particularly during National Dairy Week.

But all other considerations aside, the special events from Pickle Week to Boy Scout Week and Cancer Control Month do have purposes other than "crass materialism," as the National Chamber reports.

FREE ENTERPRISE—The National Chamber chalks up a victory for free enterprise in noting the abundance of special weeks in the United States.

A sense of humor and sense of values are "entirely lacking in all directed economies since the rays of ancient Egypt and, perchance, before," it reports.

If free enterprise includes the opportunity to promote your product or your community or your cause, then the United States is indeed enjoying the fruits of freedom.

This is a heartening quality in America freedom that is seldom considered: The opportunity for anyone with sufficient enthusiasm and drive to organize a campaign for the benefit of himself or his group or for charity.

POPULAR APPEAL—Based in this concept of freedom of action are such nationally popular and well-supported fund campaigns as those to fight polio and cancer and heart disease and tuberculosis.

The Community Chest, lumping together fund-raising drives of worthwhile projects, is another campaign with popular appeal.

And the National Chamber is correct in pointing out that in totalitarian countries the state-controlled programs designed to "appeal" to the people are generally for the benefit of the ruling clique—not the people or any private group.

Marinette's Harvey Higley Is First Non-General To Boss VA

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Harvey V. Higley, the new Administrator of Veterans Affairs, is the first non-general to get that important job, which entails spending more than $5 billion a year, a sum second only to the defense budget.
His predecessors were Generals Frank Hines, Omar Bradley and Carl Gray.
Apparently President Eisenhower felt that as long as he was breaking the "general" tradition he'd do it thoroughly, because Higley is not the general type in any respect.
He's completely relaxed and easy-going. For his 60 years he's not very paunchy, is vigorous, and tall. He wears glasses and has a thick thatch of snow-white hair. When he laughs, which he does easily and frequently, he exposes an assortment of gold teeth.
On his first day at the desk he quickly let it be known that military pomp and protocol were out the window. He says bowing and scraping and "sirring" make him uncomfortable.

HARVEY V. HIGLEY: Bowing and "sirring" make him uneasy.

going on in the inner circles of the administration.
His home is Marinette, Wis., and having had a big assortment of GOP party jobs all the way up to state chairman he naturally has a wide circle of friends on the Hill. Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield is an especially close one.

Higley's greatest political feat, they claim, was pulled off during the Wisconsin presidential primaries of 1948. As state chairman, and in spite of being in the middle of the bitter fighting over races involving Tom Dewey, Harold Stassen and General MacArthur, he managed to hold the organization together and come out of it with nobody mad at him personally.

Next to politics Higley's favorite pastime is saving stamps. He bowls some and plays golf, but says: "I guess just because I don't seem to be able to hit that ball very well I kind of resent the game. But I keep trying."
His collection contains close to 90,000 stamps of all kinds. He has already visited the famed collections in the Library of Congress and Smithsonian Institution. He was delighted when he discovered that VA got a lot of foreign mail. But he says he's going to stay away from the Postmaster General's office.

"I swear I'm not going to hang around Art and influence him to put out all kinds of collectors' items."

Higley is the first VA administrator to take over with a solid background in veterans affairs. He was Wisconsin American Legion Department Commander in 1941, served on the Legion's national executive committee and kept himself well informed on the Legion's rehabilitation work.

However, Higley is very cautious when discussing his plans for VA.

"Everybody probably expects some changes and I'll make some. But I'm going to move slowly. The vet has been getting good service from VA and I don't intend to wreck the system with hasty moves."

He says he got simple instructions from the President about the job. The President told him that he considered it of vital importance that veterans should get good treatment and all they deserved from the government. But he also told Higley that he should make an effort to make the huge agency more efficient.

A successful small businessman, Higley founded the Anslu Chemical Co. of Marinette, which makes commercial gases and small fire extinguishers. The plant employs about 500 persons.

He has always been an active community leader and holds an office in the Episcopal Church. He was born in Cheshire, Ohio, and was graduated from the University of Wisconsin.

He and Mrs. Higley, the former Alice Clifford of Wheaton, Ill., have four married children. A son was killed in the Navy during World War II.

Arroostook county, Maine, northernmost in the U. S., has 6453 square miles, or an area more than that of Rhode Island and Connecticut combined.

Poultry Display Is Outstanding

Visitors at the Upper Peninsula State Fair who have visited the poultry exhibit, but who failed to give that Barred Rock rooster at the entrance more than a passing glance, have passed up one of the outstanding attractions of this year's exposition.

Proud of bearing, flawlessly proportioned and weighing, as he stands, a trifle over ten and one half pounds, he would be unusual from these points alone, but the long streamer-like plumage, that drapes from his neck, wings and tail, has to be seen to be believed.

This unusual bird is the property of William Towsey, of Hubble, who has exhibited poultry here for many years. According to August Mattson, assistant superintendent of the poultry show, this particular bird is the product of twenty years of carefully selective breeding.

Many High Class Birds

Mattson adds that there are other birds at the show that may rate just as high as this one. This year's show, he says is outstanding in the number, variety and quality of the entries.

There are fifteen varieties of chickens on exhibition—not including the numerous exhibits of bantams.

Due to the fact that most poultry raisers, of late years, depend on hatcheries for their stock, the bulk of the birds brought in are of a few standard varieties—such as Barred and White Rocks, Leghorns, New Hampshire and Orpingtons—but there are still many farmers who raise their own, retaining strains that are not so common. At the show there are a half-dozen cages of game fowl, several cages of Minorcas, tufted Polish birds, Jersey Giants and many others.

Asked why so many people raise bantams, a fact indicated by the large number on exhibit, Mattson said that in almost every instance they are raised as a hobby. Though small, they are not to be despised for table use, and he added with a smile, "A lot of the pullet eggs you buy in the stores are in reality, bantam eggs."

Good Rabbit Display

Ducks, geese, turkeys, pigeons and guinea fowl are to be found in the exhibit, though not in as large a number as in some past years, but the rabbit exhibit is the largest yet. The hares and rabbits shown are 4-H Club projects. Most of them are pets, but many of those shown were raised with the serious intent of helping to supply an ever increasing market for rabbit meat.

Some of the hares on display weigh up to fifteen pounds.

The duck pond in the center of the poultry building, is again very popular—especially with the youngsters.

Urges Dairymen In U. P. To Expand

Dale Ball, state co-ordinator of institutional farms, speaking briefly at the Dairymen's Dinner at the 4-H Dining Hall Tuesday night, suggested Upper Peninsula dairymen might enlarge their market by going after the Southern Michigan market in replacement cattle.

Ball explained that Southern Michigan, particularly around Detroit, needs milk cows but doesn't want to raise them. The Detroiters buy cows when they are ready to freshen.

At present, Ball said, thousands of head of Canadian cattle are shipped to Southern Michigan every year for this purpose. Why can't the Upper Peninsula supply these replacement cattle, Ball asked.

Iron Mountain Farm Holsteins Collect Championship Ribbons

In the Holstein-Friesian open class male division of the Upper Peninsula State Fair livestock show the senior champion and grand champion is the entry of A. Wender and Sons of Iron Mountain.

Blue ribbon winners in the Holstein-Friesian open class, females, are:
5 years and over entry of Sam Grondine and Son of Hermansville; 4 years under 9, Roger Coott, Iron Mountain; 3 years under 4, Gail Bowers, Stephenson; 2 years under 3, Holman Linderoth, Daggett; 18 months under 2, Arvid Honkala, Crystal Falls.

In Brown Swiss, male, (no senior or championship) — the junior championship, 18 months under 2, was won by the entry of Dewey Reath of Vulcan. The same animal also is grand champion of that division.

The Reath entries won in all age groups in the Brown Swiss open class female.

In the Holstein female 1 year under 18 months division the entry of Hilding Linderoth of Daggett was blue ribbon winner. In Brown Swiss, same age group, the winning entry was that of William Valerio, Vulcan.

Fat Stock Show Has 27 Entries

There are 12 FFA entries and 15 4-H entries in the FFA-4-H Fat Stock Show at the fair, a total of 27 entries, Grey Knaus of Cornell, superintendent of beef breeds, has reported.

Knaus said there is a very large improvement in the class of stock this year, and in the job boys have done in feeding and growing this stock. Number of entries has dropped, he stated, but quality has climbed.

Of 4-H entries, 13 are from Delta County and two from Menominee County. The Felch FFA has eight entries, and the Stephenson FFA four.

Entries will be shown Friday morning at 10, and will be sold at public auction between the dairy barns Saturday morning at 10, Knaus said.

Knaus said some steers have made very rapid gains in weight. He explained that steers were weighed in prior to January 1, and weighed again on arrival at the fair. In the interval they were given "full feed." The number of pounds gained between the two weighings is called the "rate of gain," Knaus explained.

He cited one of the steers entered, which went from 640 to 1,370 pounds in 300 days, a gain of 2.43 pounds per day. This steer thus more than doubled its weight. Cost to the owner was $23.26 per 100 pounds of gain.

Delta County entrants are: Bertha Lee Johnson, Danforth, two steers; John Knaus, Cornell; Carol La Marche, Newhall; Lorraine La Marche, Newhall; Lois Mocine, Danforth; James Schire, Cornell; Kenneth Schire, Cornell; Leslie Schire, Cornell; Rodney Schire, Cornell; David Woodward, Cornell; and Arlene Woodward, Cornell, two steers.

Art Jarvis, vocational agriculture instructor at Felch High School, is supervisor of the fat stock sale.

Horwood Recalls First Upper Peninsula Fair

"I do recall the first fair . . ." reminisced Russell E. Horwood, superintendent of the agricultural experiment station at Chatham, Tuesday night in an address to 67 dairymen and guests who attended the annual Dairymen's Dinner in the 4-H Dining Hall at the Upper Peninsula State Fair.

The first U. P. State Fair was held in September, 1928, Horwood said. "I recall so vividly that at that time most of the cattle came in by train," he remembered. The first couple of nights they were coming in all night long, he said.

Horwood said the present livestock barn was the exhibition building then. Cattle were exhibited in tents and in small barns across the highway.

He recalled various difficulties in putting the first fair on. The weather was not perfect. One of the tents blew down, he remembered, and one day the judges judged cattle in an alleyway alongside a barn across the highway, "while the rain continued."

From that beginning, however, Horwood said, the county herd system of today developed. He said he feels the fairs have helped bring about the large number of good herds existing in the U. P. today.

Horwood, whose experience since those first days has included two years at the University of the Ryukyus on Okinawa, from which he and Mrs. Horwood recently returned, said he also remembered 4-H participation in early fairs and noted that many 4-H boys got to take many fine trips.

Sometimes leaders got the chance to go along on 4-H trips, he remembered with a smile. He said someone still has a photo of his Model-A Ford with a sign on the back "showing who we were and where we were going." That trip was to the National Dairy Show in St. Louis, Mo., it was learned later, and Joseph L. Heirman, now Delta County agricultural agent, was one of the 4-H boys who made the trip.

Heirman was in the 4-H program supervised by the Delta agricultural agent of that day, Joe Turner, whose part in the first fair Horwood also recalled. The 4-H Dining Hall at the fair grounds is called "Turner Hall" after Joe Turner, Horwood remarked.

Method's Secret; Mrs. Doody Gives Posies Permanent Bloom

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEW YORK—(NEA)—The flowers that bloom in the spring, trala, may last all the way into fall. That's if you let Alma Doody get her hands on them.

Every morning, Mrs. Doody staggers up two long, dark flights of stairs, her arms full of flowers. She goes into a unimpressive office and ducks behind a partition. There she works some horticultural mumbo-jumbo and treats them so they last forever.

Well, maybe forever. It's still too early to tell. Some of her samples are now three, going on four, and they still look the same. So Mrs. Doody isn't sure just how long her process is good for.

These well-preserved blossoms of hers look good, despite their advanced age. They've retained their form and their color. When you get a big bunch together, there's even the faintest wisp of fragrance left, too, but that may be imagination. Mrs. Doody makes no claim for smell retention.

Her method is strictly secret. Even Hallock Harmon, who handles the business end of the firm, doesn't know how she does it. He admits that he could make a good guess, but he isn't sure. And he won't even tell his guess.

Whatever it is, it does the trick. Her office is full of permanent posies. Mrs. Doody had grown nostalgic for the flowers, grass and such she used to know back in Ohio. When she moved to a New York apartment, she had no pretty botanical specimens to admire.

This situation prompted her to recall her great-grandmother, an inventive lady who had concocted a method of retaining color in pressed flowers. After three

Deadly Coal Gas Trapped For Fuel

BRUSSELS (AP)—That appetizing steak you ate tonight may have been broiled to a turn by fire damp—one of the Belgian coal mines' great killers.

A growing industry is paying off two ways—in eliminating the deadly gas from mines and providing healthy gas for cooking. Housewives in Brussels, Ostend and Liege are putting the lethal, fearsome "grisou" to good use.

Fire damp is coal-charged hydrogen which becomes explosive when mixed with air in the right proportion. A few years ago, it occurred to engineers that properly controlled it must contain potential energy.

Now there are 25 centers in the Clarieroi, Mons and La Louviere mine areas collecting the coal gas. Some of it is used in factories, some of it for homes, after going through a cracking process which changes it chemically from a death dealer to fuel.

FOREVER DELPHINIUM: Mrs. Alma Doody compares a fresh stalk of delphinium (right) with an arrangement of delphinium and larkspur on which she's cast her secret spell.

years and beaucoup bouquets, Mrs. Doody adapted great-grandma's method to its present state of petally perfection.

Actually, she admits, it isn't perfect. There are still some flowers that resist. A few white flowers, like gardenias, turn brown at the edges. And some very large flowers don't come out too well. But 85 per cent of garden and wild flowers can be treated.

Since the finished product is slightly fragile, she doesn't sell loose flowers, or corsages. Everything is made up in an arrangement.

The flowers must be absolutely fresh for the treatment to take. And they must be worked on as soon as possible after they've been picked, or it's no go. She calls her creations "Spellbound Flowers," and now, days is specializing in arrangements in picture frames.

Atlantic City Car Was Hot

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—A heat wave cooked a car to such a high temperature that the rear window blew out.

Albert Black left his car parked on the street for two and a half hours in 90-degree heat. When he got back a crowd told him that the window had burst like a balloon from the effect of heat inside the car.

Past Good Deeds Bring Rich Reward

CLARINDA, Ia. (AP)—Being "good neighbors" paid off for Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shields, farmers near here. Mr. and Mrs. Shields both were suffering from tuberculosis. They had to go to a sanitarium for two years so they put their household goods and farm equipment up for sale at auction.

Auctioneers donated their services and friends and neighbors got together to push bids to levels that were amazingly high. In addition the neighbors bought $1,100 in U. S. bonds for the Shields' two daughters, Nancy, 8, and Jo Ann, 6, who will live with their maternal grandparents.

Neighbors said the Shields long have been active in organizing "good neighbor" activity for other farm families.

Big Cattle Trek On In Australia

DARWIN (AP)—About 150,000 cattle are on the move in northern Australia. Some of the cattle will be on the track five months before they reach the railheads or meatworks as a stepping stone to the dinner tables of Australia and England. The cattle are in great herds averaging 1250 head.

This year's movement of cattle is the biggest in the history of the Northern Territory because last year's drought prevented all driving.

WHO'S THAT? — He may be hard to recognize, but it's NATO commander Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther watching Britain's Seventh Armored Division in training at Bergen, Germany. General Gruenther was on a tour of NATO forces in western Germany when he stopped off to see the famed British tank outfit in action.

New Dieting Wave Worries Bakeries

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Bread bakers have a troubled look today. A new wave of dieting threatens their already slipping sales. And a persistent minority of their customers claim that today's packaged bread isn't as tasty as the loaf that grandmother baked.

The flour and baking industries are anxious for you to believe:

1. The staff of life doesn't deserve banishment from the fare of the over-plump but is really necessary in a balanced diet.

2. Today's enriched bread is much better for you than the old-fashioned home baked loaf—having iron and three essential vitamins added and having lost no real nutriment in the bleaching process.

Eat It Hot
But many can still remember how bread made at home in grandmother's day outstripped modern packaged bread in two ways: You could eat it baking and you could eat it hot.

Bleaching flour to make bread whiter is the result of housewives' preferences, according to George L. Morrison, president of General Baking, which turns out eight million loaves of white bread a week. He says that the miller uses a process similar to that in purifying drinking water and that this removes none of the important food elements.

Ward and General, among others, bring out low-calorie breads.

Dieting is the most worrisome threat to the bakers just now. The American Medical Association holds that 30 million Americans are overweight and life insurance companies claim that the mortality rate among the overweight is 150 per cent that of the rate among the normal weight.

Consumption Drops
In the flight of Americans from obesity, flour has been one of the chief casualties. Fifty years ago per capita consumption of flour products was 225 pounds a year. Last year it was down to 130 pounds.

The Millers' National Federation says that 162 flour mills with a total daily capacity of 295,540 of 100-pound sacks have closed since 1948.

Dr. William B. Bradley, scientific director of the American Institute of Baking, stresses that the much-shunned caloric is necessary to produce heat or to perform physical work—the important thing is to eat just the right number rather than avoid any particular source.

The Wheat Flour Institute, getting into the fight to save bread, is circulating a reducing diet that includes enriched white bread.

Arrest Proved To Be Disguised Blessing

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—A hitch in jail proved a blessing in disguise for two men who went broke here while traveling across country to join a carnival.

They were arrested on a charge of entering an uninhabited dwelling. Awaiting trial, they volunteered to do painting jobs at the court house.

They proved such good hands that, after they were convicted and put on a year's probation, the county hired them. Now, they are painting bridges and county buildings.

COOL TYPIST—Virginia Panian knows how to keep cool in an office that's hot as an oven. As a fireman searches for source of heat and smoke. That's no figure of speech—hot as an oven—as a defective oven unit caused all the excitement in a Detroit, Mich., restaurant.

Equipment Handy

CHICAGO (AP)—Firemen were summoned yesterday to extinguish a fire in the second floor of the three-story building of the General Electric Corp. The fire, which started when sparks from an acetylene torch ignited an accumulation of paint, was put out easily. The firm manufactures fire extinguishers.

Lamps Must Be Placed Well To Do Lighting Job

No matter how perfectly balanced the general lighting of your home is, you still need portable lamps for specific seeing tasks like reading, writing, sewing or applying make-up.

For real seeing comfort, be sure every lamp fills these three requirements:

1. It must be in the right place. Each task calls for a differently placed source of light.

2. It must have the right kind of shade. The shade should be deep enough so that you never look into the light source from either above or below. It should be almost as wide at the top as at the bottom, so some light is thrown upward to contribute to general illumination. Preferably, it should be translucent, but not enough to reveal the bulb as a big, bright spot of opaque, the outside should be neither very much darker nor lighter than the nearest wall.

3. It should have the right kind of lighting equipment. High wattage alone is not substitute for properly diffused light. A white glass or plastic bowl diffuses light from ordinary lamp bulbs. A new reflector bulb, set neck down into an upright socket, diffuses its own light but needs a wider harp—the metal device that supports the shade.

A new midget motor slightly bigger than a rolled-up newspaper is expected to help submarine crews blast their targets from the seas. The 25-horsepower motor will be used in new electric torpedoes. It will start the torpedo's heavy gyroscope, the device that guides the torpedo to its target.

Chemists Have New Varnish For Paintings

What is hailed by the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D. C., as an ideal varnish for paintings has been produced by Mellon Institute chemists.

Instead of employing damar, a resin from the Asian gurnut tree, and mastic, which comes from the pistachio tree, or using the synthetic resins on the market in recent years, the Mellon chemists after more than a year of experimentation have arrived at their own formula.

A perfect resin and an entirely new solvent have been synthesized and developed. The two together will make the perfect picture varnish, now being given a rigorous test at the National gallery. If it works on some of the world's most valuable paintings, the formula will be given out to be used by artists and by professional rejuvenators of paintings.

He Went That-a-Way

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Police figure this fellow may have seen one Western too many.

He entered a Kansas City tavern, rapped two astonished patrons over the head with a pistol butt, fired a few shots into the ceiling, and calmly stalked out.

Self-Dumping Lake Has Done It Again

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Lake George, the unique self-dumping lake, has done it again. The annual emptying of the picturesque Chugach Mountains lake is a phenomenon of the ice.

It is sealed with a barrier of ice each winter. As summer brings the big thaw, the barrier weakens gradually under the pressure of the mounting 26 mile long, 4 mile wide reservoir.

The flow builds to river proportions, ripping out chunks of weakened ice the size of a small house and tossing them along in the torrent down a mountain gorge.

This year, the breakup was nearly a month ahead of last year, due to the warm summer. The runoff raised the Knik and Matanuska rivers five feet and the rush of debris and ice threatened bridges and trestles. The lake is 50 miles north of Anchorage.

Ancient Buildings Revered In Quebec

QUEBEC (AP)—Quebec may be the only city in Canada where a man likes to check with the town planning commission before putting a new color of paint on his house. It is part of running a city where old things are sacred and modern development is pushing in at the gates.

Of the 1,238 buildings standing when the British took over from the French about 200 years ago, 1,114 still stand. Quebec's historical societies, watchdogs of historic monuments, and business men who cater to thousands of tourists, view with alarm the trend to modernization. The city administration policy is development of new housing and industrial areas outside the city's historic section, and strict control over construction inside.

Cops Ordered To Use More Gasoline

MASONTOWN, Pa. (AP)—This western Pennsylvania town is going to have bigger gasoline bills, all because some councilmen thought the police department was using too much gas already.

Councilmen objected when they learned the two patrol cars used 66 gallons of gas in 17 days. But John Nagy, the Burgess, thought differently when he figured the rate of consumption was only about two gallons a day.

Nagy ordered police officers to use five or six gallons a day so the town can be patrolled adequately. He declared:

"And if the men don't use that much in their patrols, I'll fire them!"

Were Fruitful And Multiplied

HOLDENVILLE, Okla. (AP)—When Mrs. Mary Florence O'Donnell died here recently at 83, she left a family of 155 direct descendants.

She was survived by 13 of her 17 children, 67 grandchildren, 71 great-grandchildren and 4 great-great-grandchildren.

The executive board of the Escanaba League of Women Voters met at the home of Mrs. Frank Neumeier, 720 S. 19th St. last evening to discuss plans for the League meetings and activities for the coming year.

The afternoon unit will hold an organization meeting the first week in September. The exact time and place will be announced later. Anyone interested in joining this unit should contact Mrs. George Ruwisch.

The first general evening meeting of the League will be held Thursday, Sept. 10, at 8 p. m. in the Carnegie Library and will be a discussion of the League's plans for the coming year.

Floriculture Is Attractive Exhibit At U. P. State Fair

Flowers and plants of almost every variety known to the home grower form the attractive exhibit of the Floriculture Department of the Upper Peninsula State Fair. The exhibit is in its customary place in the fore part of the main exhibition building, effectively displayed on pyramided stands.

This year's exhibition is not as large as last year's because of the stretch of poor growing weather during the summer. Mrs. Lucille DeGroot of Escanaba, department superintendent, said yesterday, but it set a high record in quality.

Outstanding Exhibits

Among outstanding exhibits are a tuberous begonia with large yellow blossoms of velvety sheen, entered by Mrs. William Johnson of Gladstone; tall canna lilies which are being exhibited by Mrs. Lee McMillan of Escanaba; an unusual clustered cactus entered by Mrs. Stanley Sheehan of Gladstone. Rte. 1 and a Thousand Sisters plant which is owned by Mrs. William Peters of 2316 1st Ave. S.

In the flower grouping section is a lovely arrangement of blooms of an old fashioned garden, entered by Mrs. Steve Marvic of 1514 N. 16th St. Predominating in the garden flower exhibits are tiger lilies, asters, dahlias and zinnias. The wild flowers of Northern Michigan's woodlands form a colorful display, with one of the most effective entries a combination of the deep purple blazing star and the creamy white lace plant flowers.

Assistant Superintendents

With Mrs. DeGroot, in charge of the department, are Mrs. Esther Meier and Walter Nelson, assistant superintendents.

The floriculture exhibits will be removed early Thursday morning to make room for the Gladiolus Show, a popular feature of the final days of the fair.

Cornell

Honored At Shower

CORNELL—Miss Joan Peterson of Escanaba and Bill Woodard of Cornell were the honored guests at a wedding shower at the Cornell hall Saturday evening. John Knaus and Mrs. Bud Branstrom received the guest awards. Floral bouquets centered the tables. Following the opening of the gifts, a buffet lunch was served to approximately 100 persons. The honored guests plan an early fall wedding.

PLUMP, CULTIVATED BLUEBERRIES over pastry shells filled with ice cream is one way to serve Michigan and New Jersey fruit.

These plump, juicy, cultivated blueberries from New Jersey and Michigan have a way of taking the mind off the heat. Here's a fancy but easy recipe from New Jersey friends:

Profiteroles Au Tru-Blu-Berry (Makes 10 servings)

Puff Paste: one-quarter cup butter or shortening, 1/2 cup boiling water, 1/2 cup sifted flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs.

Add fat to boiling water in medium-sized sauce pan. When melted, add flour and salt all at once. Stir rapidly over heat until dough leaves sides of pan clean. Remove from heat and let cool a few minutes.

Rapid River

RAPID RIVER—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Sjostrom and daughter Gloria, Detroit, are spending two weeks vacation here with Mrs. Maria Lindberg, mother of Mrs. Sjostrom, and in Gladstone with Mrs. Lottie Anderson. Saturday they all motored to the Big Spring and Indian Lake and spent the day there.

Mrs. Will Robertson, Lansing, and Mrs. Hale Beattie, Detroit, are visiting with their sister, Mrs. Gus Roberts and other relatives in Gladstone.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Prestage and Mr. and Mrs. D. Wood, Battle Creek, are vacationing at the Prestage camp on the Whitefish.

You'll need to keep a can of soup in the refrigerator for at least three hours if you are planning to serve it chilled. Chill your soup cups or bowls, too!

Add eggs, one at a time, stirring vigorously after each addition. Drop by spoonfuls on cookie sheet, 1 level teaspoon to each puff. This amount makes 48 tiny puffs.

Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 15 minutes or until well puffed, dry and browned. Cool. Split and fill with ice cream, a cream filling, or with prepared vanilla pudding. Arrange 5 or 6 in sherbet glasses or other serving dishes. Top with blueberry sauce.

Sauce: one-quarter cup sugar, 2 teaspoons cornstarch, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/3 cup cold water, 1 pint box cultivated blueberries, rinsed.

Sift together into a saucepan the sugar, cornstarch and salt to thoroughly mix. Gradually stir in water. Cook until clear and thickened, stirring constantly. Add cultivated blueberries. Boil 2 to 3 minutes. Cool. Makes about 2 cups sauce.

From Michigan we get this hint for pie topping:

Blueberry Pie Lattice Cream Topping: Bake your favorite blueberry pie filling, using cultivated blueberries, in a single (bottom only) pie crust. Cool. Make a cream lattice top with sweetened whipped cream, orange or lemon flavored, and pressed through a pastry tube or put on in criss-cross lines with a spoon and knife. Nutmeg-spice sour cream may also be used for the creamy lattice top, if desired.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Pan-fried fish fillets, tartar sauce, boiled potatoes with parsley butter, lima beans, mixed green salad, profiteroles au tru-blueberry, coffee, milk.

Home Economics Exhibits At U. P. Fair Are Larger

More exhibits have been entered in the Home Economics division of the Upper Peninsula State Fair this year than last year, Miss Dorothy Eiler of Marquette, general superintendent of that division, stated yesterday.

In the needlework department, 259 entries were made. Of these entries, the baby and knitted articles were in the greater majority, and the greatest change to be noted is the lack of linen work. There were not any linens entered in this year's exhibit while last year, the linens were among the outstanding needlework division. Variety is much the same as in previous years, and the quality of the exhibits is very good, the superintendents said.

A marked factor in the needlework exhibits this year is that there are far less exhibits entered by people over 65, and that the teenagers are entering more exhibits than previously.

The two outstanding exhibits in this year's needlework entries are the appliqued quilts and the machine stitching work.

Five hundred exhibits were entered in the foods division which has been grouped together in one department for the first time. During previous fairs, the canned goods and baked goods have been separated. As another improvement in this department, several new showcases for displaying the exhibits have been provided.

"The quality of the baker goods this year is better than average, but it isn't as high as in some years previous," Mrs. Jack Little, judge, stated.

Bread of High Quality
The highest quality in the baking goods was the bread. Less entries were made in the canning group while the bakery group had many entries.

Raspberry pies, white bread, refrigerator cookies, coffee cakes, quick yeast rolls, cinnamon rolls and rye bread had the greatest number of entries.

Joseph Ivens Talks To Club

Interesting and informative was a talk on potato marketing and farm subsidies given by Joseph H. Ivens, Escanaba, manager of the Michigan Potato Growers Exchange, before the Gladstone Rotary club Monday noon.

In telling what happened to the potato market last year, the speaker said government estimates on the crop indicated it would be about 9 million bushels short of our annual 330,000,000 bushel consumption. Following the harvest, some were sold at $4 per 100 pounds and then farmers remembered years when they got $6 and $7 per 100 and decided to hold them awhile. Buyers were hollering for spuds without avail.

Then came a later report which showed the estimate low and a surplus of potatoes of about 17 million bushels. A short crop had become a long one. Buyers, however, remembered refusal of the farmers to supply them and refused to push the sale of potatoes.

He told of the change in marketing from years ago. Today they are handled mainly through service wholesalers, who may want two or three truckloads each week on certain days and at specified hours. This is so they can transfer most of the load from one truck to their own trucks and save double handling. This angle is hard to get across to the farmer, Ivens said, and they sell when they feel like it. He said they usually wait until the market is on the up and decide to sell. About 20,000 have the same idea and by the time the spuds reach market the bottom has fallen out again.

Can't Guess Market
Ivens said the surest way to get a fair and stable price is to sell about one-third at a time, the first third upon digging. He said there is no way of guessing the potato market and he has been in the game 35 years. The speaker said he has seen the market drop a dollar overnight.

Touching on farm subsidies, Ivens said he will take either side of the question and argue it. Personally, he favors them, if the proper program were to be adopted.

Today we are the only country in the world that raises sufficient food to support itself. To have a prosperous country we must have a prosperous agriculture and price supports granted the farmer aided in making for a prosperous agriculture, he declared.

The price support should help to cut the cost of production but it failed in this. In the dairy industry it drove the people to oleo while the best butter was being purchased and stored in the price support program.

He predicted the dairy industry would never recover so that actually the farmer had been done a dis-service through the time of program used.

Miss Nancy Ann Wagenhals became the bride of Bert J. Apelgren at a ceremony performed recently by the Rev. James A. Daum at First Presbyterian church, Oshkosh. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. F. C. Wagenhals, Island View, Rt. 5, Oshkosh, and the late Mr. Wagenhals. Mr. Apelgren's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Erick W. Apelgren, Gladstone.

Soloist for the 7 p. m. service was Robert McPherson who sang "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. W. P. Wheeler accompanied Mr. McPherson and provided traditional wedding music.

The fitted bodice of the bridal gown was of nylon tulle over satin and was buttoned down the back. A Chantilly lace scalloped panel formed the boat neckline and the short sleeves. Appliques of matching lace were scattered over the full tulle skirt and the gauntlets worn by the bride were also of lace. Her queen's crown of Chantilly lace held a fingertip veil of illusion and was studded with pearls and rhinestones. A white orchid and lilies of the valley rested on the prayer book she carried.

Maid of honor was Miss Ruth Hasley. She was gowned in a lilac nylon net strapless gown with shirred ruffle at the bustline and an attached stole. Her bouffant skirt had a side drape flounce. An open crown of veiling with back flower trim matched the color of her dress for her.

Marilyn Zellmer as bridesmaid, was identically attired, but both carried lavender orchids with white candelabra leaves.

Robert Wagenhals gave his sister in marriage. Best man was William Carlson, Marquette, Mich., and Glenn Jergens, Black River Falls, Wis., served as groomsmen. Seating the guests were Robert Rohr, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Donald Ziller, both of Milwaukee.

The ceremony was performed in a setting of banked cistern ferns contrasted by vases of white gladioli and flanked with candelabra. Small Boy Is Killed By Car

Bruce Eugene Wrobel, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Casimir Eugene Wrobel, of 1852 Vaughan, Detroit, was killed instantly at 5:30 yesterday afternoon when struck by a car on US-2 at Marquette, east of Manistique.

Driver of the car, the Rev. Alonzo R. Mohr, of Escanaba, told Michigan state police here that he failed to see the child until almost the moment of impact. The Rev. Mohr, traveling west, was returning from a Seventh-day Adventist encampment near Lansing.

Several minutes before the fatal accident, according to police, the little boy and his mother had crossed the highway from the Otto Johnson farm home to visit nearby relatives. Later the child wanted to go to the Johnson barn, so his mother led him to the highway, saw him safely across it and watched him enter the barn. Believing that he would remain at the barn she returned to the house.

According to police the child apparently left the barn to return to his mother, running into the highway directly in front of the rapidly approaching Mohr car. The boy was partially decapitated by the impact.

The Wrobel recently arrived from Detroit to visit at the Johnson farm, Mrs. Wrobel is a daughter of the Johnsons.

Inland Magazine Carries Pictures Of Quarry Blast

Blasting operations at Inland Lime and Stone Company quarry, east of Manistique, are pictorially portrayed in the July issue of Inland News, published monthly in Chicago by Inland Steel Company.

The magazine also devoted another page and a half to activities and personnel of the local company. Paul Vezina has charge of Inland Lime and Stone Company news coverage for the magazine. Pictures were taken by Vern C. Linderoth, local photographer.

Alligator Goes For Walk In New Jersey

PLEASANTVILLE, N. J. (AP)—"Shades of the Everglades" was the cry here when a baby alligator crashed out of a bush on Main Street.

Albert the Alligator, measuring a foot and half from tail to teeth, snapped at a woman passerby.

Firemen finally trapped the reptile and returned him to his owner.

Albert had crawled away from his backyard pen, apparently eager to see whether Pleasantville lived up to its name.

Rips Through Roof With Bare Hands

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—The prisoner was known as "the Beaver," police told the judge because of his talent for ripping his way into stores with his bare hands. He admitted tearing a hole in a jewelry store roof with his hands, climbing out again with $5,500 worth of watches.

"Well," said the judge, "let him try his talent on some steel bars. Ten to eighteen years."

During the recent eruptions of Mt. Torbert, Mt. Spurr, and a third, unidentified Alaskan volcano, all air travel was halted because of the heavy pall of ashes in the air, says the National Geographic Society.

The youth was taken to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital where he will be a patient for several days. It was reported at the hospital yesterday that his condition was good.

The accident occurred on US-2 at the east city limits. State Police reported yesterday that the boy was traveling west on the north side of the highway. As a car driven by Charles A. Cpl. Heminger On Way Home

Cpl. Lawrence Heminger, 23, a prisoner of the Communists in Korea for 27 months, wired his mother in Mueller township late Monday that he was on his way home, stating there is "nothing wrong with me your cooking won't cure."

Cpl. Heminger, freed by the Reds a week ago, said he was returning to the United States by boat. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Heminger, Green School Location, do not expect him for about two weeks.

The Mueller township soldier entered service in October, 1950, and arrived in Korea in December. He was taken prisoner by the Communists on April 25, 1951.

The Hemingers learned that their son was alive and well about a year ago and since then have received several letters from him. Also anxiously waiting his return is a brother, Raymond, 19, who is employed on a Great Lakes freighter. He hopes to be home when Cpl. Heminger arrives after his long incarceration in a Red prison camp.

A warm welcome for the returning soldier is planned by friends and neighbors in the Green School area, it was reported yesterday.

Pat Cvergros, Ironwood High School star athlete, rates a lengthy story in this week's issue of the Sporting News, baseball bible. In a special section devoted to American Legion Junior baseball activities, the article calls Cvergros a righthanded Hal Newhouser. Cvergros, as Newhouser before him, was named the 1953 most valuable player in the state tournament at Bay City. Newhouser was honored in 1937.

George Beauregard, whose Edison (Detroit) team eliminated Ironwood in the state tournament finals, says of Cvergros: "If we had him on the mound, I'm sure we could glide by everybody to the national Legion championship. He's by far the best pitcher in the entire state of Michigan, better than anyone even on my own staff."

The article states that in his pitching career Cvergros has hurled in 28 prep and Legion games, starting 25 and failing to finish only one. He has an over-all record of 23 triumphs and two losses. In 207 innings he has yielded 64 hits and 13 earned runs while fanning 332.

In pitching Iron River Felix's to the Iron Mountain district Class A championship last weekend, Lynn Chadwick started, finished and won all four games his team played. He allowed a total of 15 hits in the four contests. He shut out Hosking-Harvey 2-0 in the title game.

In addition to Harnischfeger in Escanaba and Felix's in Iron Mountain, the Upper Peninsula district Class A champions are Roosevelt Bar in Ishpeming, Scavetti's Bar in Ironwood and Camp Lucas in Sault Ste. Marie.

If winning a game already given up for lost was the spark that ignited the New York Yankees' pennant drive, they were losing a game that looked like a sure victory before it was over.

It's tough to pick one game as the starting point of a surge toward the flag. But you can make a pretty good case for the Yankees' July 25 encounter in Detroit.

That was the day the Yanks fought back from a 10-1 deficit to win 15-11 with four runs in the 12th inning.

Made Big Drive

They went on to capture 17 of their next 23 games, doubling their first-place margin over Chicago from 4½ to 9 lengths.

Then came Tuesday night. The White Sox took a couple of squeakers from the St. Louis Browns 3-2 and 2-1. The Yankees, using rookie Bill Miller, toyed with Washington and led 8-1 after six innings.

The final score was 10-8 Washington.

Now 7½ Behind

The night's activity brought the White Sox within 7½ games of the lead. Chicago has 36 games to play, five of them against New York. The Yankees have 37.

It was a night of close games with six of the nine major league contests decided by a single run. In other American League action, Boston defeated Philadelphia 2-1 and Detroit edged Cleveland 3-2. In the National, Brooklyn outlasted New York 4-3 in 13 innings, Philadelphia nipped Pittsburgh 1-0, St. Louis thumped Chicago 5-1 and Milwaukee ran up the biggest margin of the evening in whipping Cincinnati 8-2.

Matthews Hits 38th

Eddie Matthews hit his 38th home run in Milwaukee's triumph that left the Braves 8½ games behind the Dodgers.

Gerry Staley gave up a home run to Chicago's Eddie Miksis and led Chicago to a 10-1 victory in the 12th inning.

Barks Host To Powers In Tri County Series

First game of a best of three series for the 1953 Tri County baseball league playoff championship will be staged Sunday at 2:30 at the Bark River diamond.

Manager Joe Rademacher will be shooting for a double season victory. His Bark River Barks copped the regular season crown with an impressive record of 13 wins against one defeat.

The Barks will take on Powers in the three-game series. Powers finished second in the regular season final standings.

Last week Bark River defeated Hermansville in the sudden-death playoff while Powers topped Foster City to move into the championship series.

Managers agreed on a best of three series for the championship this season because of the early date of finish for league play. The second game of the series will be played at Powers on Sunday, Aug. 30. Site of the third game, if necessary, will be announced later.

Bark River will be seeking revenge for its only defeat of the season when they meet Powers Sunday. It was the Powers team that handed the Barks their lone loss in the final game on the regular schedule.

Both teams promise to be at full strength for the series opener. Ernie LaChapelle will likely toss for the Barks with either Ray Wells or Jack Chriske working on the Powers mound.

Chatham To Play Opener In U. P. Softball Meet

Chatham Maki's Service, crowd-pleaser in the district softball tournament here last week, will carry Escanaba district colors into the opening game of the Upper Peninsula Class A tournament at Marquette's Hurley field Friday night at 7.

Chatham will meet the CCI Engineers of Ishpeming in the first game on the schedule. Drawings for the single elimination championship tourney were announced today by Jim Trethewey, Marquette tournament manager.

Four Teams Qualify

The Chatham team was a surprise runner-up to the title-winning Escanaba Harnischfeger club. Other teams from the district qualifying for the U. P. tourney were the Merchants and Bungalow of Gladstone.

Harnischfeger is slated for its first action Saturday at 6:30 against Norrie A. C. of Ironwood. The Merchants play Felix's Food Store of Iron River at 9:30 Saturday. Bungalow meets Scavetti's Bar of Ironwood Saturday at 8:15.

Remaining teams competing in the tournament will be Camp Lucas and Jolineau Grocery, Sault Ste. Marie; Mehrman Plumbers, Marquette; Hosking-Harvey, Iron Mountain; Palmer; Roosevelt Bar, Ishpeming; Pfeiffer Beer, Norway; Sports Club, Wakefield.

16 Teams Entered

The field totals 16 teams representing 12 communities in the Peninsula.

Winner of the Upper Peninsula championship tournament will compete in the state tournament finals to be staged at Memorial Field in Escanaba on Labor Day weekend.

The U. P. Class B tournament will be held at Ironwood this weekend. The Class C tourney is slated for Calumet Aug. 28-29-30 and the U. P. girls tourney will be held on the same dates at Marquette.

St. Paul Pitcher Whiffs 18 Batsmen

(By The Associated Press) Ray Moore, St. Paul righthander, struck out 18 batters Tuesday night in pitching the Saints to a 2-1 one-hit win over the Minneapolis Millers.

The effort was two short of the all-time Association record. In addition, Moore knocked in the winning run with a ninth-inning single.

Toledo increased its league lead to 1½ games with an 8-3 triumph over the Indianapolis Indians as Gene Conley became the first Toledo pitcher to hit a 20-victory season since 1932.

The second-place Louisville Colonels lost to Kansas City 5-4. Charleston beat Columbus 4-2.

RING BATTLE SET

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Heavyweights Harold Johnson and Edward Charles, who are scheduled to battle at Connie Mack Stadium Sept. 8, posted $2,500 bonds Tuesday with Frank Wiener, Pennsylvania state athletic commissioner. The bonds are designed to guarantee the fighters' appearance.

Marine Veteran Killed In Ring

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A Marine staff sergeant who survived three Korean battles, 24-year-old Robert L. Lee, died Tuesday night almost immediately after receiving a body blow in the first round of a preliminary fight at the Miami Beach Auditorium.

Fighting under the name of Bobby Leonard of Milwaukee, the war veteran was favored over his opponent, Kenny Yates of Miami, in their four-round middleweight bout, and ringers were startled when he crumpled under what appeared to be only a light blow to the heart.

Lee fell back against the ropes and seemed for a moment to be gagging on his mouthpiece. Then he fell through the ropes to the ring apron and went into convulsions.

An autopsy was scheduled for today.

Yates was booked on a routine charge of involuntary manslaughter and released in custody of promoter Chris Dundee. It was the first ring fatality on record here.

Trabert And Seixas Post Easy Victories

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert easily defeated Cambridge's Chauncey Steele and Bob Stewart, 6-1, 6-1, 6-4, in their opening national doubles engagement Tuesday at Longwood.

The match had been postponed 24 hours after Seixas wrenched his right knee Sunday.

So far such dependable tandems as Gardnar Mulloy and Bill Talbert, Grant Golden and Bernard Bartzen and Denmark's Kurt Neilson and Torben Ulrich have been able to advance playing under wraps.

The same holds for the outstanding women's pairs, defending champion Doris Hart and Shirley Fry, and national and Wimbledon singles titlist Maureen Connolly and Julie Sampson.

In 1950, Dodger Manager Burt Shotton told Gil Hodges he was turning his head and taking his eyes off the ball. Manager Charley Dressen repeated the warning again this spring.

Roberts Is Rare Bird, Has Youth and Control

(Editors Note: This is the third of a five-part series on Robin Roberts, the Phillies ace pitcher)

By JOE REICHLER

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Robin Roberts is one of those rare birds—a youngster with control. Hardly ever does a young pitcher hit the big leagues a finished product. Even Grover Alexander wound up his freshman year yielding 129 bases on balls. He followed with 105 in his sophomore season.

Roberts, on the other hand, walked only 75 in his first full season, 77 in his second, 64 in his third and the amazingly low total of only 45 in 339 innings last year.

The match had been postponed 24 hours after Seixas wrenched his right knee Sunday.

der way at Lanphier High School in Springfield, Ill. He played first, second and third. He received an athletic scholarship to Michigan State, not for his baseball, but for his basketball ability. He was a star forward and in 1946 was declared by a newspaper poll to be Michigan's outstanding collegiate basketball player.

After the basketball season in 1946, Roberts tried out for the baseball team as a first baseman but soon switched to pitching.

What caused him to make the choice that ultimately led to the big time?

"Well, I couldn't run fast...still can't," he admitted with a contagious grin. "And I wasn't much of a hitter, anyway. Besides, they needed pitchers. Pitchers don't have to run much. So, I went out for pitching."

That summer he accepted an invitation to play at Montpelier, Vt., in the Northern League, a semi-pro circuit. Roberts spent two seasons in Vermont and got what amounted to a minor league education. He won 18 of 21 decisions in his second year.

It was after the '47 season that Chuck Ward, Philly scout cornered him in a Chicago hotel room and waved a $25,000 bonus check in his face.

After he signed the Philadelphia contract, he tossed the check to his dad and said, "There, pops, now you can build that new house."

Field Pared To Four In Escanaba Women's Championship Tourney

With defending champion Dorothy Anderson on the sidelines, the championship flight in the Escanaba Golf Club ladies tournament is narrowed down to four contestants who teed off in semifinal matches at 1 p. m., today.

Former champion Ruth Needham upset Mrs. Anderson, 2 up, in a quarterfinal match yesterday morning. It was her first defeat in club tournament play, after five successive championships at Cadillac, Highland Club and Escanaba Club.

In other championship flight matches yesterday Harriet Fitzharris defeated Betty Fuller, 4 and 2; Doris Swanson beat Mary Loeffler, 5 and 4, and Rosemary LeMire defeated Bernice Stuart, 6 and 5.

Needham and Fitzharris are matched in today's semifinals and LeMire and Swanson are paired in the other half of the afternoon showdown.

The finals will be played tomorrow afternoon starting at 2.

Two Rated Favorites In Western Amateur

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Chunky, dark-haired Frank Strafaci of Garden City, N.Y., shared the favorite role today with Harvie Ward Jr. of Atlanta as match play got underway in the 51st Western Amateur Golf Assn. championship.

Strafaci Tuesday shot a 6-under-par 66 for a two-round total of 140. Ward, winner of the British Amateur two years ago, took a 3-over-par 75 followed an opening 69.

There were no casualties among the tournament's top names as 64 qualifiers needed only 155 or better over the par-72 Blytheheld Country Club.

Strafaci meets Thomas Stephenson, Kansas City in his first round match. Ward takes on John Morrell of Elgin, Ill.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

GROSSINGER, N. Y. (AP) — Driven by a determination to become recognized as a great heavyweight champion before he is through, Rocky Marciano is drilling perhaps even harder for his coming defense against Roland La Starza than he did when he was a challenger.

"What I want to do now is not just beat La Starza," he says seriously. "I want to beat the next eight men and establish myself as the best everybody will know it. The last knockout over Joe Walcott wasn't very satisfactory as far as I was concerned."

Has Confidence

Rocky has a great deal of respect for La Starza and he expects the boy from the Bronx to give him a very hard fight on the night of Sept. 24 but he is deeply confident that he still will be the champion when it ends, either by a knockout or a decision.

"I remember from our other fight that he's hard to hit," he conceded readily. "I can't remember that I ever caught him real solidly, even though I had him down. He doesn't have too much footwork, but he moves around a lot from the waist up."

"I had no preference at all

Former Notre Dame Law Dean Heads New Federal Commission

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower has named Clarence E. Manion, former dean of Notre Dame University's law school, as chairman of a new commission to study federal-state problems in such overlapping fields as taxation and road construction.

Announcement of Manion's appointment was made at the summer White House after Manion had conferred with Eisenhower.

The commission was created by Congress, at Eisenhower's request. Eisenhower will appoint 14 other members soon. Five senators and five House members already have been named to serve on the new unit.

State Functions Usurped

Manion, now a practicing attorney in South Bend, Ind., told a news conference that the President "is extremely anxious to preserve the constitutional integrity of the states."

The appointee added that the President feels "the situation is critical and that local self government must be preserved as an essential part of the American system."

Eisenhower is known to feel that the federal government, in some cases, has encroached upon fields where the states should be carrying the main load.

Manion said the new commission will look into relationships between the states and local governments in every field where they come in contact, particularly where there is an overlapping of functions.

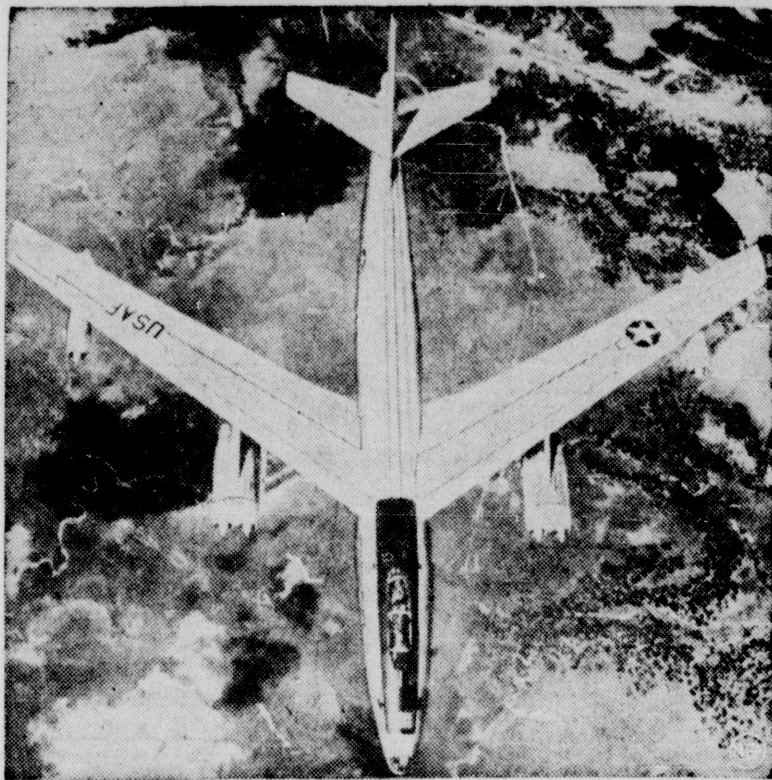

He specifically mentioned the fields of taxation, school luncheons and road construction.

Functions Overlap

Asked whether there would be an inquiry into whether federal and local police functions overlap, Manion replied that in his opinion that would be a proper field for investigation. He made the reply when a reporter said there have been some complaints that the FBI has been moving into local police work.

In reply to another question, Manion said he feels a study of whether the civil rights would conflict would be a proper procedure for the committee.

As for taxes, Manion said he believes "there is a great deal of saving to be made by an administrative revamping of the whole tax system," with special emphasis in an effort to eliminate duplication of taxes.

AIR FORCE'S NEW PHOTO PLANE—This is what the new Boeing RB-47E Stratojet will look like as it looms over enemy territory on long-range photo reconnaissance duty. It has a longer nose than its sister ship, the B-47E, has a top speed of over 600 miles an hour, and an operational ceiling of over 40,000 feet.

Motorist Had An Extra Day Coming

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Magistrate Temple H. Morgett didn't figure 77-year-old Emmett Maxwell would have much of a defense when he appeared on a charge of driving with an expired driver's license—but the farmer came through like a Philadelphia lawyer.

Maxwell said the license expired after he had celebrated two birthdays from the date of issue—June 30, 1950.

His next birthday, declared Maxwell, is Feb. 29, 1956.

The magistrate dismissed the charge.
